PALMER JOHNSON POWER SYSTEMS ACQUIRES BOWERS TRANSMISSION

Madison, WI, June 1, 2015– Furthering its goal to bring industry leading service and sales to off-highway markets, Palmer Johnson Power Systems has acquired Bowers Transmission out of Seattle, WA. Started in 1941, Bowers is a leading distributor of Dana Spicer off-highway components and service center for the region.

By acquiring Bowers, Palmer Johnson Power Systems now operates 10 service and sales centers across the country. With the addition of a branch in Washington, Palmer Johnson is better positioned to support regional and national customers located in the Pacific Northwest.

“Bowers is a strong player in the northwest and the perfect addition to our growing service network. Our companies share common values - dedication to both our customers and to our people,” said Craig Parsons, President, Palmer Johnson Power Systems.

About Palmer Jonson Power Systems

Palmer Johnson Power Systems specializes in servicing and supplying components for heavy-duty, off highway transmissions and axles. Started as a spin-off of superyacht builder Palmer Johnson Yachts, the company currently operates 10 sales and service branches across North America with more than 140 dedicated employees.

Palmer Johnson is the authorized distributor and service center for leading off-highway manufacturers including Twin Disc, ZF Off-Highway, Dana Spicer, Carraro, Funk, Wichita, Eaton Airflex and more. Palmer Johnson also operates volume OEM transmission and axle remanufacturing programs out of the company's Madison, Wisconsin, headquarters for equipment manufacturers including John Deere, Caterpillar, AGCO and CNH.

Palmer Johnson's goal is to balance fun with superior customer service, a sense of family with a drive for performance, teamwork with individual freedom and creativity with analytical work.
